Baked Egg Roll

This is the same recipe that my English Grandmother gave me for Yorkshire Pudding (not really a pudding though). It's delicious no matter how you stuff it!

Directions:
1) Place eggs and milk in a blender. Add the flour and salt; cover and process until smooth. Pour into a greased 9x13 pan. Bake at 450 for 20 minutes or until eggs are set.
2) Fill with (your choice). Roll up in pan, starting with a short side. Place seam-side down on a serving platter. Cut into 3/4 inch slices.

TIP: If yours puffs up, don't worry. Just poke holes in the "bubbles" and it will still roll up fine.

Powdered/Dehydrated Egg Mix

They are great for baking. You cannot taste a difference. Don't be scared to use dehydrated eggs.

Did you know that those packaged cakes, brownies, or cookies where you just add water have dehydrated eggs in them (also probably along with powdered milk).

But don't just take my word for it...try them out for yourself.

1. With 226 eggs in a #10 can, you will never run out.
2. Easy to use (1 T egg mix + 2 T water)
3. Can use only 1/2 egg easily!

Baked Omelet

This is a perfect solution to having a large group over for brunch with out any headache or mess. Plus it's tasty! I just served it with some fruit and fresh-out-of-the-oven bread. They loved it!

Directions:
1) In a bowl, whisk the eggs and cream until light. Stir in the cheese, ham, green pepper and onion.
2) Pour into a greased 8x8 square baking dish. Bake at 400 for 25 minutes or until golden brown
3) If you want, topped with extra cheese, tomatoes, and green onion.
